SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1865.

English Railway Men and American Since the Pripos of Wales, with his brilliant escort, completed his celebrated tour through the British Provinces and the United States, no more distinguished party of foreigners has ever visited this country than that which arrived in New York city by the steamer Scotia on Tuesday evening, and which to day will be welcomed to Meadville, Pennsylvania. It consists of Sir Morton Peto, well known in railway circles on both sides the Atlantic, who has recently become contractor for the international bridge which is to connect the railway systems of the United States and Canada; Mr. James McHenry, whose name has become a household word in the West, in connection with the Atlantic and Great Western Railway, for public are indebted to him more than to any other; Arthur Kinnaird, M. P.; T. W. Kennard, Eaq., the Napoleon of engineers; Mr. Leon Lillo, who represents the Marquis of Salamanca; Mr. E. F. Satterthwaite, and a large number of others, both ladies and gentlemen-This representation of the commercial interests of Europe deserves an especial welcome to the country in which its members have taken so great an interest, and which is indebted to their enterprise for such a thoroughfare as the Atlantic and Great Western Railway. The friendship of these gentlemen toward the United States, and their confidence in its permanence and continued greatness, have been testified by the fact that in the midst of our civil war they have undertaken and carried through a great rallway enterprice in the heart of the Union, which would have proven a disastrous failure had that Union been destroyed. They have now come to this country to examine the work in which they have, with most praiseworthy sagacity, invested so largely. After completing the trip over the broadguage route from New York to St. Louis, it is their intention to visit several of the great commercial centres of the United States, and to devote some time and attention to the railway system of the country, with a view to various enterprises. Such a visit as this cannot fail to have marked results on railway management both in Great Britain and Americs, and we trust that it may prove beneficial to both. A dinner will be given to these distin- Ohio, sugr

The Rentucky Election. The official returns of the late election Kentucky are at last published. Neale, the Union candidate for State Treasurer. received 42,082 votes, and Ballard the former incumbent and Democratic candidate, received 42,187, a majority of 105 for the Democrats. The vote of Wolfe county was thrown out in consequence of an inormality in the returns. Had it not been the Democratic majority would have been reduced to 79. Mr. Garrard, the successfi candidate, has, however, died since the election, and the vacancy caused by his death has been filled by Governor Bramlette by the appointment of Mason Brown, who is in favor of the Anti-slavery Constitutions.

One, which is authentic, enables copper ameliers to utilize their pestiferous smoke so perfectly that Mr. Vivian, head of the greatest firm in Swanses, says he shall be able to turn out 1,000 tons of sulphuric acid per week, restoring incidentally many thousand acres of land to cultivation. The other, which in turpentine, said to be so rapid must twelve hours will tan a skin at half the former cost. One wagou train had been captured centaining merchandisa valued at $80,000. The goods ware taxen to Goliad, but into a storm and request will be granted.

Lieutenant Tracy testified to Wirz' Lieutenant Tracy testified to Wirz' cruelty to the prisoness, and among the acts was the shooting and killing of a man who had alipped over the dead line while trying to obtain water.

Ool. Chipman said he now proposed to introduce documentary evidence to show that the Department at Hichmond had knowledge of the condition of the prison at Andersonville in May last.

Captain C. M. Selph, of the rebel army, and four years in the Adjutant General's office at Richmond testified testified to the handwriting of Howell Cobb. In a letter dated May, 1884, to Adjutant General were taken to Goliad, put into a store and sold in open daylight by the robbers.

handwriting of Howell Coop. In a letter dated May, 1884, to Adjutant General Cooper, Cobb says he has examined the prison, and presumes its character is well well understood at Richmond, and he gives well understood at Michmond, and he gives no description. The danger of the prison-ers escaping was not so great as he had supposed. With a guard of 1200 men 4 pieces of artillery and a cavalry company all apprehension of escape would be quiet-ed. He had arranged to sand two regiments. He recommended the erection of a hospital building outside of the prison. Such is the opinion of every sensible man who has examined the prison. The prison is already too much crowded, and no addi-tional prisoners should be sent there until it has been enlarged. (Norm-He had previously stated that there were more than 20,000 there.) The effect of increasing the number will be sickness and death

Juring the summer. I understand be myn-an order has been given for enlarging the prison. If it were possible to make another prison it would be much better, for I doubt very much whether the water will be sufficient for the accommodation of the in-creased number of prisoners. The general marragement of the prison under Colonel Pearson is good. The duties of inside commander are admirably perfermed by Captain Wirz, whose place it would be difficult to fill. I think that the rank of the officer commanding the post should be that of a Brigadier General, in view of the number of troops that will be under his (Signed)

Accompanying this is a report from Dr. Eldridge his Chief Surgeon, which mays the prisoners are too much crowded, and suggests various improvements, paying a com-pliment to Dr. White. A daily mail North was commenced on that day by the Morth Eastern Bailroad A report from General John H. Winder to General Cooper, dated July 21, 1864, was also submitted, stating the number of prisoners at 29,200; that many are most desperate characters; giving the number of guard, &: He says, "You speak of plac-ing the prisoners properly. I do not ex-actly comprehend what is intended by it. I know of but one way to place them there, and that is to put them into the stockade, where they have between four and five square yards to the man. This includes streets and two acres of ground about the stream." A letter also in evidence from Acting Adjutant and Inspector General Chandler, dated Andersonville, July 5th, 1864, to Col. Chitten, Assistant Adjutant and In-spector General of Richmond. He gives an account of his inspection of the prison, saying, excepting the egress of the stream it is sandy and easily drained; but for thirty or forty yards on each side the stream is muddy and the marsh is toused as a sink sounstion, and having been established, it is now in a shocking condi-tion and cannot fall to bring pestilence. Efforts were made by Captain Wirz to fill up the marsh and construct a sluice, the upper end to be used for bathing, &:., and the lower end as a sink, but the difficulty of procuring lumber and tools very much retards the work and threatens soon to retards the work and increases soon to stop it. No shelter whatever, nor mate-rials for making any, have been provided by the prison authorities, and the ground being entirely bare of trees, none is within reach of the prisoners, nor has it been pos-sible from the over-crowded state of the enclosure, to arrange the camp. Each man has been permitted to protect himself as best he can, by using his blanket or whatever he may have about him, on such sticks as he can procure. Of other shelter there has been none. There is no medical attendence within the stockade. Twenty are carted out daily, who have died from unknown causes, whom the medical officers have never seen. The dead are hauled ou daily by wagon load and buried without coffins, their bands, in many instances, being mutilated by an ax in the removal of finger rings. There may have been no scap or clothing issued. After inquiry, the writer is convinced that, with a slight exwriter is convinced that, with a singht exception, green corn could be obtained. The hospital arrangements were only intended for ten thousand men and are totally insufficient for the present needs, the number of prisoners being now more than three times greater. The great number of cases requiring medical treatment is in an increased ratio. It is impossible to obtain the numbers. Many of them are dying within the stockade whom the medical officers have never seen or heard of till their remains were brought out for inter-ment. The transportation facilities of the post are also represented to be entirely in-sufficient, and authority was needed by the Quartermaster to impress wagons and teams and saw-mills, when not employed by the government, into his service, and kept diligently occupied, and instructions given to the Quartermaster in charge of the transportion to afford every facility possible for trans-porting lumber and supplies neces-sary for the prisoners. A supplementary Report made by the same officer, in which he says the conduct of Wirz is entitled to commendation, and that he is properly qualified for his position. He was recommended for promotion, as appears from other papers, and that the Assistant Sec-retary of War, S. C. Campbell, endersed the reports. They show a condition of things which calls for the interposition of the War Department; the prison being a represent to the Cenfederates as a nation-Colonel Chipman also offered in evidence the report of the rebel Surgeon General Moore, to show that the fault at the hospital was owing to Dr. White, the latter having failed to send his requisitions direct having failed to send his requisitions direct to the Medical Purveyor. Not having re-ceived supplies, owing to his own neglect. General Chandler suggested the removal of the general superintendent of prisoners and the substitution of some one who has some feelings of hu-humanity and who will not, like Winder, suffer the prison to remain as it was in order that the discomforts and sufferings are represented to be almost incredible, with a frightful per centum of mortality, thus showing criminal indifference on the part of those charged with their care and

Agents have been in Ireland, and in an incredible short space of time have created the most terrible excitement, not only here, but throughout the ment, not only here, but throughout the entire kingdom. The greatest alarm prevails among the priesthood, the majority of whom, though opposed to English rule, denounce Fenianism from the pulpit. The secret of their opposition lies in the fact that the order leads the people from the priesthood. They favor any movement against England, either moral or physical, but it must be originated by them and be guided by them. We hear that the Fenians are drilling throughout the country, in some places merely in squads, at others S. B. Mitchell, Alderman Welding, C. F. Bumpp, Hugh Humell, all of Philadelphia, and L. A Terrible Confession Daniel Andrews, Postmaster at Glencoe Mo., was recently arrested for robbing a neighbor and committed suicide in prison. Before doing so he wrote a confession, which stated, among other things, that he murdered a returned Californian, eight or ten years ago, for the purpose of securing his money, which amounted to about tan his money, which amounted to about ten thousand dollars; that he had the murdered man buried at his own expense, many of the neighbors attending the fune-ral, and giving him credit for charity to the dead.

He also informs his friends that since his appointment as Postmaster he had robbed the mails in search of money in many instances, and that he never lost an opportunity to appropriate money intrusted to him with the information that their contents were valuable. The most shocking statewere valuable. The most snocking state-ment in the confession is, that he had been the means of killing two of his own chil-dren, and that he had meditated the mur-der of his wife, procuring a gun and loading it for that purpose only a few days before the date of the confession.
